

ABSTRACT

A plug-in for a windowless web browser environment that creates a transparent section in a browser frame when a video media event is detected where a video frame is overlapped the transparent section of the browser frame. The plug-in also directs the tuning of the video signal for the video frame.

[illegible]